80. A RARE SILVER KIDDUSH CUP OF DUTCH (Oldenzaal) INTEREST.

Stockholm 1712. Engraved with dedication to the Holy Congregation of Oldenzaal. In 1748 there were 33 Jews in Oldenzaal and by 1776 there were 47. The largest number of Jews was 256 in 1899. The year 1765 appears to be the first sign of Jewish synagogue life in the community of Oldenzaal. By 1879, that building was in danger of collapsing and was razed and replaced with a new one located in the Kerkstraat. The community had learning centers for advanced studies of Jewish texts. The Jewish community was dissolved in 1948 and in 1964, the synagogue was razed and a new town hall erected on it's site. The Jewish cemetery is maintained by the local authorities. 2.7" wide and 1.7" tall. Estimate $3,000 - 5,000

81. A MONUMENTAL DECORATED ARTILLERY SHELL CASING BY THE BEZALEL SCHOOL.

Jerusalem, c. 1910. Decorated with applied silver and copper on a 1916 Berndorf brass shell casing. Eight mid-length central cartouches are each engraved with a floral design. Upper band engraved in Hebrew: "WORLD WAR SINAI FRONT JERUSALEM 1916 - 1918." The base is engraved with Bezalel and Jerusalem in English as well as several Bezalel marks. The Sinai campaign was fought by the British Empire, the Arab revolt against the Ottoman Empire, and the German allies. It was triggered by the Ottoman attempt to raid the Suez canal and ended with the Armistice of Mudros in 1918. As a result of this front, the British Empire was awarded the Palestine Mandate. Decorating spent shell casings was a specialty craft of the Bezalel school that did most of them in Damascene work. Damascening is the inlay and onlay of one metal onto the other reminiscent of the rich tapestry of Damask silks, often found in Damascus, Syria in the mid to late 19th century. This 23.4" artifact appears to be one of the largest examples of a decorated shell casing. The casing itself appears to have been manufactured by the Wollersdorfer Works factory in the Berndorf region of Lower Austria. Originally in the Kamenetsky collection of Bezalel works.

Lomza, 1883. Decorated on all four sides with checkerboard design. The tops are engraved with sun shaped cartouches which are engraved in Hebrew for specific uses "for head" and "for hand". The base is engraved with a Hebrew dedication: "ABRAHAM LEIB SON OF YISROEL TZVI HALEVI ON THE 12TH OF AV 5643 (1883) HERE IN LOMZA." The first Jewish presence in Lomza appears to be in 1494 when the Jewish community owned a cemetery and a synagogue. In 1556, King Zygmunt August banned Jews from living in Lomza. It is documented that by 1808, Lomza had 157 Jews living there which was 10% of the population. By 1822, there were 977 and in 1857 there were 2,608. In 1880, Rabbi Elizer Symcha Rabinowitz was appointed Rabbi of Lomza. In 1883, the same year that these tefillin were engraved, Rabbi Leizer Shulevitz, who was a student of Rabbi Israel Salanter founded the Lomza Yeshiva. Rabbi Shulevitz had the backing of Rabbi Chaim Leib Mishkovski (The Stavisker Tsaddik) and Rabbi Yisroel Meir Kagon (The Chofetz Chaim). Under Rabbi Shulevitz the yeshiva grew quickly and largely and accepted over 400 students becoming a financial burden on the local Jewish community. Rabbi Shulevitz turned to other communities to help with the fundraising. Miraculously, the building was spared during World War II. Notable students from the Lomza Yeshiva while it was still in Lomza include Rabbi Ahron Cohen (Rosh Yeshiva of the Chevron Yeshiva), Rabbi Yaakov Neiman (Rosh Yeshiva of Ohr Yisroel in Lida), Rabbi Yaakov Kaminetsky (Rosh Yeshiva of Torah VoDaath) and Rabbi Eliyahu Botchko (Rosh yeshiva of the Montreux Yeshiva in Switzerland). 3" x 2.2" x 2". The application, in the shape of hearts, indicates that it was a wedding gift. Also decorated with Cohanic hands in priestly form. 7.7" x 5.3". Hofstad is a small province in the city of Utrecht.
